Dear Friends,

At our Mother's Union meeting for St David's Day, we heard how David travelled to Jerusalem, where he was made a bishop. We were shown a picture of the Mappa Mundi, a mediaeval map from Hereford Cathedral, which shows Jerusalem at it's centre. For European Christians, that city was the centre of the world: for the Jewish people it is the holiest city, and in ancient days was thought to be God's home: for the Muslim people it is the third holiest site.

In the next few days we will be reminded of the importance of Jerusalem in our own faith, as we follow the journey of Jesus in his last days on earth - from the triumphal entry into the city on Palm Sunday, through our Stations of the Cross as he stumbles through the streets with his cross, to his wonderful resurrection in the Garden of Gethsemane. A week of sadness, pain and fear ending in joy.

The terrible war between Israel and Gaza continues, and sadly, during this Islamic holy month of Ramadan, as many Muslims go to Jerusalem to worship, there are fears that violence could spread to Jerusalem itself. We pray with our brothers and sisters of other faiths that we will learn to recognise in each other the image of God; that Jerusalem may be a place where we can unite and worship God, and will once more be a place of joy.

With every blessing this joyful Eastertide,
Caroline

The Parish Online

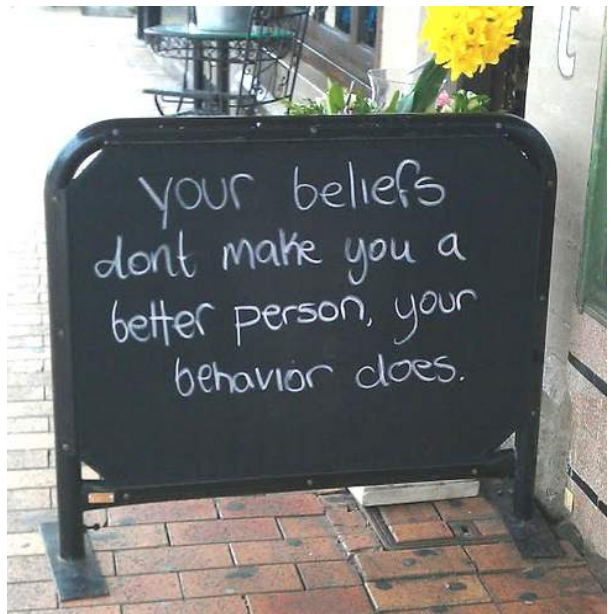

- Each Sunday at 11am we have a service of the weekly readings and prayers on Facebook and Youtube.

- Each Saturday evening - when the technology co-operates! - we send out an 'information pack', the readings, pewsheets, sermon etc on email. If you don't get one, it means we don't have your email address - please let us know.

- Each morning I post a 'Thought for the Day' on Facebook, just to let you know I'm thinking of you and praying for you: sometimes it's thought -provoking, sometimes just fun.

- On this page you can read the most popular 'Thoughts for the Day' from the last couple of months.

- Our Parish Facebook page now has 451 members. Invite your friends to join us each day.

“Whoever has the Son has life; whoever does not have the Son of God does not have life”. 1 John 5.

As we approach this festive time of the year, we celebrate the resurrection power of our Glorious Lord and Saviour JESUS CHRIST and it's in His beautiful name that we greet you and thank you for your faithfulness to this ministry. We are so grateful for your donation of time, food and money. The number of people in crisis coming through our doors increased in January, but decreased in February due to the Government's last cost-of- living payment. We also would like to thank all those who signed our petition "Essentials Guarantee." Hopefully the government will listen and bring the UC to a level that people will be able to afford at least the essentials that we all need to get by on.

Thanks again for your generous donations and commitment to this ministry. Your continued support is very much appreciated

World Day of Prayer 2024

The service is written by the Christian women of different countries, and this year it was the women of Palestine. They chose the title: I beg you, bear with one another with love. We heard stories of sadness, determination and hope from three Palestinian women. Sadly, some time after the service was written, war broke out between Israel and Gaza, and more than 30,000 Palestinians and 1,500 Israelis have died.

A PRAYER FOR THE HOLY LAND

'Lord, we ask you to draw close to those who have suffered and are suffering, and who see only hopelessness and suffering in the future. Comfort all people in Israel and Gaza at this time in their loss and despair. Heal their wounds, and protect them from the onslaught of bombardment, rockets, and bullets. We pray that you lead each to see the pain of the other, and recognise in each other the image of God.

Pour out the abundance of your grace upon the Middle East, and on all nations and governments around the world. Stir in them all the fruits of your Spirit, that peace will increase like a mighty river washing away all evil and the scourge of war from our lives and from the world.'

Dorcas takes the part of Eleanor during the service.

My Favourite Hymn

-And Can it Be?

Another hymn by the great hymn-writer Charles Wesley. I have written previously about two of my favourites – ‘Love Divine’ and ‘Love’s redeeming work is done’ – both by Wesley, and this is again a moving and inspirational hymn to sing. It is often considered to be the best-loved of Wesley’s huge creation of over six thousand hymns. It was written in 1738 to celebrate Wesley’s conversion to Christianity.

Born in 1707, Charles was the eighteenth child of Samuel and Susanna Wesley. He had a sound and comprehensive education, and with his brother John went on to study at Christ College, Oxford where he took his degree in 1729, and then became a college tutor.

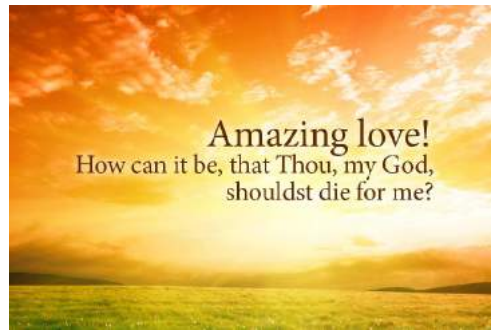

While in Oxford Charles and John formed a group called the ‘Holy Club’ which met weekly and aimed to live holy lives, setting aside time for prayer, examining their spiritual lives, and studying the Bible. Their fellow students found their approach extremely methodical and so they became known as ‘Methodists.’ The rest, as they say, is history.

‘And Can it Be’ was first published in 1739 in John Wesley’s hymnal ‘Hymns and Sacred Poems’ and had the title ‘Free Grace’. Written by Charles in 1738, its words portray the great spiritual change he was going through. If you read the verses you can almost visualise his personal salvation and subsequent conversion to Christianity.

His diary, in May of that year, gives minute details of the mental and spiritual struggles through which he passed, and then the ultimate triumph, expressed in the words of the final verse – ‘No condemnation now I dread; Jesus, and all in Him, is mine.’

Early publications of ‘And Can it Be’ set the words to a variety of tunes. Today we sing it the tune ‘Sagina’, composed by Yorkshireman Thomas Campbell in 1825. Campbell liked to give his tunes botanical names, and ‘Sagina’ is named after a small moss-like plant with white flowers.

A group of 4 to 8 year olds were asked:

What does love mean?

'Love is what makes you smile when you're tired' - Terri, age 4

'Love is when my mummy makes coffee for my daddy and she takes a sip to make sure the taste is ok' - Danny, age 8

'When someone loves you, the way they say your name is different. You just know that your name is safe in their mouth' - Billy, age 4.

'Love is what's in the room with you at Christmas if you stop opening presents and just listen' - Bobby, age 7.

'If you want to learn love better, you should start with a friend who you hate' - Nikka, age 6

'When my grandmother got arthritis, she couldn't bend over and paint her toenails any more... so my grandfather does it for her even when his hands got arthritis too' - Rebecca, age 8.

'Love is when a girl puts on perfume, and a boy puts on after-shave, and they go out and smell each other' - Karl, age 5.

'Love is when you tell a boy you like his shirt, and then he wears it every day' - Noelle, age 7.

'Love is when your puppy licks your face even after you left him alone all day' - Mary-Ann, age 4.

'I know my older sister loves me because she gives me all her old clothes and has to go out and buy new ones' - Lauren, age 4.

'When you love somebody, your eyelashes go up and down and little stars come out of you.' - Karen, age 7.

'You shouldn't say 'I love you' unless you mean it. But if you mean it, you should say it a lot. People forget' - Jessica, age 8.

Ladies Group

The Ladies Group meets in All Saints on the first Wednesday of the month at 2.30p. In March, the group gathered for a much belated 'Christmas' lunch at the Pantcadifor. We enjoyed good food, great company and the sun shone too!

At our next meeting, we will be joined by Ann Isaac, who will introduce us to the Japanese art of scarf wrapping.

The Mothers' Union in the Ministry Area

At our March Meeting we watched a slide show about St David, enjoyed tea and Welsh cakes, and received bunches of daffodils as a special gift to celebrate the day. Many thanks to our officers Barbara and Dorcas. (NB their new MU scarves!) Next month we look forward to an Easter Floral Demonstration from Carol Thomas.

An Easter Prayer

Christ the Lord is risen
And, as all the world rejoices,
Singing of his glory
With such joyful hearts and voices,
May you find that Easter brings you
Peace and faith and hope anew,
And may these blessings fill your heart
With joy the whole year through.

Pentecost Prayer

Breathe in me O Holy Spirit that my thoughts may all be holy;
Act in me O Holy Spirit that my works, too, may be holy;
Draw my heart O Holy Spirit that I love but what is holy;
Strengthen me O Holy Spirit to defend that is holy;
Guard me then O Holy Spirit that I always may be holy.

- St. Augustine of Hippo (AD 354-430)

Pentecost - Time to Party

Sunday May 19th

There are three "mega-festivals" commemorated in the Christian calendar. The first two, Christmas and Easter, are well known, but even Christians may not be as familiar with the third, the festival of Pentecost.

What is Pentecost?

Pentecost is the great festival that marks the day the Christian church began to grow through the power of the Holy Spirit. Pentecost means "fiftieth day" and is celebrated fifty days after Easter.

What happened at Pentecost?

After Jesus ascended into heaven, the twelve apostles, Jesus' mother and family, and many other of His disciples gathered together in Jerusalem for Pentecost, a Jewish harvest festival. While they were indoors praying, a sound like that of a rushing wind filled the house and tongues of fire descended and rested over each of their heads. This was the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. The disciples were suddenly empowered to proclaim the gospel of the risen Christ.

All was changed. Filled with joy and excitement, they went out into the streets of Jerusalem and with no fear, began preaching to the crowds.

By a miracle of the Holy Spirit they spoke in the native languages of the people present, who had come from all corners of the Roman Empire. The apostle Peter addressed the crowd, preaching to them about Jesus' death and resurrection for the forgiveness of sins. About three thousand were baptized that day, and so this day has become known as the 'birthday of the church.'

Why is Pentecost sometimes called 'Whitsunday?'

A tradition of some churches in ancient times was to baptize adult converts to the faith at Pentecost. The newly baptized would wear white robes on that day, so Pentecost was often called "Whitsunday" or "White Sunday."

So, lets celebrate!

So, as Pentecost is the birthday of the church, its time to celebrate. Most of us will remember the Whitsun Treat in days gone by, best clothes on, a trip out, perhaps to the seaside, or into the countryside, usually a picnic.

In our churches now, we have cake - white icing for Whitsun with candles of course and red flame decorations - and decorate the church with red to symbolise the joy and the fire of the Holy Spirit. We'll even have red balloons!

Priests wear red vestments - please wear something red too!

DOWLAIS AND PANT COMMUNITY ACTION

A NEW HORTICULTURAL SHOW SET FOR THE END OF AUGUST

Over the last few years, we've seen an increase in the number of people growing their own vegetables or flowers, getting involved in crafts and cooking more. Some of this has been as a result of the Covid Lockdowns which gave many people a chance to try something new, and beneficial to their mental wellbeing.

The other big reasons for the increasing numbers in those growing their own are the prices we're now paying and the taste, as anyone that has ever eaten a warm, juicy tomato or strawberry right out of the garden, knows that nothing beats the taste of homegrown! Veggies you buy at the supermarket simply do not taste as good as the ones you grow in your own garden.

To promote a healthier and more sustainable lifestyle, we have decided to organise a new "Horticultural Show" to show-case the talents of so many, in the hope that more people get involved. This will take place on Saturday 31st August at the Dowlais Engine House, as it's the biggest venue locally, for what should be a fantastic day with lots and lots wonderful exhibits on show. There are categories for everyone, and we'd love for you to get involved, so "Get Growing or Making or Baking"

For more information, come along to Dowlais Library any Friday afternoon between 4pm and 5pm or phone 07508 604948.

On Wednesday 6th March we joined with Merthyr Town Football Club for Supper and Song to celebrate St. David, or Patron Saint (photo). We were joined by our good friend soprano Rebecca Southmore who delighted the audience with her Welsh repertoire. The Choir performed a patriotic programme too, from Hiraeth to Cwm Rhondda and Anfonaf Angel to Yma O Hyd. In remembrance of our dearly missed accompanist Michael Jones, we sang Hafan Gobaith – one of the last pieces of music played by him. We are grateful as always to our music team.

In February, we heard the sad news that our dear friend, former first tenor Tom “Tushy” Davies passed away, and tribute was paid to him by Meurig Price in rehearsal, along with a minutes’ silence. Our thoughts and prayers are with Tom’s family and friends at this difficult time; the Choir will be present for Tom’s funeral on Thursday 21st March at the Ty Davies Funeral Home (12.30pm) and then singing for Tom at Llwydcoed Crematorium (1.45pm).

We have the privilege of being part of the Principality Stadium Choir, at the Six Nations Wales versus Italy match. Performing a number of Welsh favourites, we will also join in with the singing of the country’s anthems, so do listen out for your local choir taking part on such a prestigious occasion. Let’s hope we can bring some luck to the Welsh performance!

We are pleased to welcome another new chorister, Mark Barry - a reminder that the door is always open to prospective male choristers, who enjoy singing, and would like to make new friends.

On April 13th we will be performing at Theatr Soar and then in May we travel to Seaton, Dorset, where we have performed at the local Town Hall for quite a number of years.

In closing, we want to mention a new initiative in conjunction with the Dowlais Engine House – Dowlais Youth Choir, which aims to encourage children to sing and to grow to love singing. If you have children or grandchildren in years 6 to 9, please come along to the first rehearsal/ workshop on Wednesday 10th April 5-6pm at the Dowlais Engine House. More information here:

A VISIT TO PARLIAMENT: and In Good Company

It has been several months in the making after tentative dates were bandied back and forth, but finally I am to London, despite the rigours of a railway trade unions' work-to-rule and strike action, for a visit to the Houses of Parliament and this time in the company of Lord Edward (Ted) Rowlands. There is none better as a guide around these precincts, he is a student over many years of Parliament, its history and its workings and remains so in the House of Lords at present.

I have had to stand the whole journey from Cardiff railway station to London (along with several score of other passengers. The usual ten coaches arrive at Cardiff as five only (signs of the work-to-rule/ overtime ban actions). The next day, December 6th, sees clear blue skies at London. After breakfast I get the underground straight to Westminster, queue at the general entrance, only to be redirected on a phone call to the House of Lords' separate entrance; so through security and the tour begins just after 9.15am with my personalised guide, Lord Rowlands. Photography is only permitted at certain points.

Lord Rowlands certainly knows his way about with a continuous and informative narrative along the walk. We meet by chance Chris (now Sir Chris) Bryant, MP for the Rhondda constituency and we stop for a chat. Ted and I pose separately before the Jubilee Fountain piece in the lee of Big Ben clock tower and then inside to the great hall and down to the chapel in the crypt where photography is not allowed.

So the tour goes indoors: I pose on the main steps as we leave the great Westminster Hall and into St. Stephen's Hall (where Parliament once met) via the central lobby and through the corridors, already a bustle with staff, visitors, security and into, firstly, the House of Commons (green livery) and then to the House of Lords (red livery), taking in statues, pictures, rooms, artwork etc en route.

Ted had generously sent me the most recent splendidly colour illustrated history of the Houses for prior reading. We note that Sir Josiah John Guest, Merthyr Tydfil's first MP barely lived long enough to see the new Houses of Parliament resurrected after the fire of 1834, still standing today.

On the terrace there are splendid views down river past the London Eye and looking the other way, to the great tower. Time for a tea/coffee break in the Lords' tea room and finally two photo shots of busts of Keir Hardie and Aneurin Bevan, legendary MPs within the pantheon of Labour politics. With an eye on the clock since there is a scheduled all day strike on First Western railway services tomorrow, we both have to make plans to return to South Wales today. And so we do, me much the better educated for that morning's visit.

I have been to Parliament some five or six times, either with respective MPs when I was working at Gorseinon College (Gareth Wardell and Marin Caton, MP severally for the Gower constituency and with the late Hywel Francis, MP for Aberavon), or with a party of visitors and an assigned House guide. Most recently a personalised visit and tour with Gerald Jones, Merthyr Tydfil's current MP was a delight and it was there that Lord Rowlands' name was suggested as the definitive tour guide. Everyone at some point should avail themselves of such a visit to Parliament: it should be part of the school national curriculum.

Postscript: Only while boarding the train at Cardiff for Merthyr Tydfil do I realise that I have been wearing my visitor tag throughout. No one reminded me of it. Gross theft from a royal palace, but the item is safely returned in due course through the good offices of Colin Parker.

GREETINGS: come springtide and RWA thoughts are turning to, later in the year and perhaps the opportunity to visit the Normandy landing beaches as part of this year's 80th commemorations of that Second World War initiative as a turning point in early June 1944. Our base would be somewhere near the historic town of Caen which is William the Conqueror country and from which he planned his landing on the shores of England in 1066. As of the moment, prices for accommodation are high, so it could be 2025 for the trip.

This is conceivably the last time that actual participants will be present at D-Day: anyone of such standing would surely be well into his or her nineties if not past a hundred.

Did you know: a certain Mary Lewis who spent some thirty eight years at the BBC ending up as head of pay policy there, before that she was one of an all-female department, the "duplicating section" in charge of all manner of paperwork? A scenario fitting of a novel, cited by David Hendy in his recent history of the BBC, The BBC: A People's History (2022) places her at about 10 pm and a phone call asking if anyone is free to do some work. She can oblige on the understanding that the work is highly confidential. She is handed a document to type and run off. It turns out to be "the actual instructions for D-Day." The landings would be taking place the next morning. True or not, such were the heady times of war in preparation for the landings in early June 1944. Supreme Allied Commander General Eisenhower was going for it once

Prime Minister Churchill's shackles on him and his reticence for a strike before that date were now cleared.

Spring has arrived however as I write this, the weather is very changeable and my heating is still on. Last week a friend and I went to The Old Railway Line garden centre. Leaving Merthyr in glorious sunshine, we were proud to have chosen such a great day to go for a nice lunch and a bit of shopping. However, the mountains were covered with snow and then we hit freezing fog. We were glad to have something hot for lunch at the garden centre.

Our Fellowship enjoyed a Saint David's Day breakfast service of food and worship. One of our members Dr. Humphrey told us about his journey from a Baptist school in Nigeria, medical training and his arrival with his family in Merthyr Tydfil. It was fascinating and we were glad that his son and daughter in law were with us too. Humphrey's faith is fundamental to his life and work, and we are privileged to share our services with him.

We took part in the World Day of Prayer service on March 1st. The service was prepared by women of Palestine some time before the current situation. Our thoughts are with all who are suffering.

We are currently arranging a late spring afternoon tea, a summer trip on the Brecon canal and in celebration of our member Mal Phillips British Empire Medal award, a Sunday lunch out all together.

As a fellowship we believe that we are a church family, supporting, caring and helping each other. Our services at 11.15 are open to all and any new members would be given a warm welcome.

And so we prepare for our Easter services we concentrate on the Love of God in sending his son to live amongst us to care for us and support us when times are good or bad and for this we give daily thanks. As Dr Billy Graham said THE ENTIRE PLAN FOR THE FUTURE HAS ITS KEY IN THE RESURRECTION.

The New Beginning Fellowship send you all warm wishes for a happy and Blessed Easter season full of love and Blessings.
